Richard Evelyn Byrd

Died at a Richmond hospital after a brief illness on the 23rd instant, and his remains were interred at Winchester, Monday. In the death of Mr. Byrd the State loses a statesman, a jurist and the Democratic party one of its ablest defenders. He had often visited this county where he married the sister of late H. D. Flood, and he had warm friends here who regret his death. He was an independent thinker and writer and in our opinion one of the ablest advocates before the courts in our State. His son Harry Flood Byrd is Governor-elect of Virginia and is said to have many of the forward-looking views of his deceased father. We deplore his death especially at this time—that he was denied the proud moment of his life—to see his own son Governor of Virginia.

Vote

The Democratic ticket is at the head of our editorial column this week. Voters will remember the day and go out and cast your vote for these nominees. There are but few Republican votes in the county and many of these will support the entire Democratic ticket, thereby qualifying themselves under the law to vote the Democratic ticket in all elections. Let's give Mr. Byrd and the entire Democratic ticket every vote in the county.

Homes of Rare Birds

Birds of paradise are found in New Guinea, Molucca islands, and a few other neighboring islands, also in northwestern Australia. Egrets range from the United States south to southern South America, from Central Europe south to Southern Africa and from North Central Asia south to Australia.

Sugar Valuable Food

The fact that most persons enjoy the flavor of sugar in one form or other is very good reason why it should be included in our list of common foods. Another good reason is that if sugar is used in moderation it is easily digested and furnishes energy for the muscular work of the body.

Origin of "Chaps"

The word chaps comes from shortening a closet. It originally applied to a chest in which the cowboy's pants were deposited.

RED CROSS YEAR A RELIEF RECORD

Huge Relief Work After Midwest Tornado the Greatest in American Annals.

DISASTERS DROP IN 1925

Ranged From Fire to Earthquake and Covered Wide Area at Home and Abroad.

Virtual completion of the largest peace-time project of post-disaster rehabilitation ever known has been accomplished by the American Red Cross in less than a year, as a part of its relief work in the more than 90 disasters in which it served in the past year.

This great program was undertaken following the tornado which struck five mid-western States last spring killing 796 people, injuring 2,239 more and causing inestimable property loss it left a huge area of devastation in its wake, presenting a real problem. The Red Cross, however, went to work on the heels of the storm, caring for the injured, sheltering and feeding whole communities, and helping every individual sufferer from the destruction back to normal.

The magnitude of the problem is indicated by comparison of its huge casualty list with that of the entire preceding year, whose combined losses were 735 dead and not quite 2,000 injured, as a result of the record number of 192 catastrophies.

The story of the Red Cross service in the past year, recounted by the report, ranges from fires heading the list of destructive forces with 39 disasters to mine explosions, tornadoes, typhoons, floods and earthquakes.

The Santa Barbara earthquake was among the outstanding events recorded in the report. The Red Cross had completed its relief organization on the scene within a few hours of the disaster, and in addition had launched a program designed to permanently restore every person affected by it to his former status once more.

The Red Cross service in the period following the wreck of the Navy airship "Shenandoah" was typical of its promptness and effectiveness. Service in this instance was afforded by Red Cross chapters in the vicinity of the wreck, and by representatives of the national organization. It demonstrates graphically the value of each of the more than 3,000 chapters of the society which are at work in virtually every part of the country, in the facility they afford the national organization in emergencies.

There were 61 domestic disaster operations reported in which the Red Cross rendered service either through chapter or national staff personnel during the year. In 34 of these the total amount turned in to the fund through the agency of the Red Cross was $2,615,000. In addition to this sum specifically collected for the purpose, the Red Cross had expended from its regular, reserves $124,000.

In all these disasters, Red Cross workers have been impressed by the spirit of determination and hopefulness shown by the people. Once they recovered from their grief and bewilderment, they began at once to rebuild, materially and otherwise, and always on a better scale where possible. Another significant feature of these occurrences, as noted in the report of the Red Cross, was the prompt sense with which the local chapters organized emergency relief before help could be received from outside sources. A direct effect of their example has been to stimulate disaster relief preparedness among chapters all over the country.

The services of the American Red Cross are performed invariably in the name of the American people. On the effectiveness of this representative, during the past year, it will honor the 15th annual roll call this year on November 11, to continue until Thanksgiving, November 26, during which support through membership will be invited for 1926.

What Becomes of Red Cross Sweaters

What becomes of the sweaters which the American Red Cross has asked for? In the first place, they are needed for the 20,000 disabled veterans still in hospitals this winter, the garments being in great demand. The surplus left from the war has been exhausted since the Armistice, hence the new call for the sweater-knitters to resume their needles, a call already being met.

The American Red Cross serves in your name; you can make it more effective by adding your name to its membership during the Roll Call Nov. 11-26.

American Rivers

The Amazon river, in South America, drains an area as large as that of the Mississippi but such forbidding contrasts largely of wilderness. The length of the Amazon river is 3,000 miles, and that of the Mississippi is 2,466 miles from its source in Lake Itasca, Minnesota, to the Gulf of Mexico.

First Vanity Case

One of the earliest known vanity bags has been discovered in the ruins of the ancient city of Ofnia, which flourished in the Fifth century. Searching the ruins with a Professor Zoller found a small bag of linen which contained a metal mirror, material resembling rouge and a pencil for darkening the eyebrows.

INDIGESTION

Black-Draught Brings Relief for Tight, Blazed Feeling.

"I had indigestion," writes Mr. W. S. Bassinger, of Hillsboro, S. C. "Nothing suited me. I got no good and eating hurt, for which I soon paid by having awful sick spells after meals. This made me very uncomfortable.

"I would feel drowsy and dizzy. I didn't feel like working. I just felt bad. It was indigestion. Some one recommended Black-Draught and I took it after awhile. I soon could eat anything I wanted to. I am glad I took it and will say that it is good and will carry away the pile better and quicker than any medicine I have ever found."

Eating too fast, too much, or hasty or unwholesome food often causes indigestion. Black-Draught helps the over-taxed organs to perform their regular functions, in some cases ridding the system of poisons that might accumulate.

Why bake your face and freeze your back—

When you can heat the whole home with only one fire?

SUNBEAM CABINET HEATER

This winter, don't move into one or two store-heated rooms. Don't wear a shawl or coat to keep your back warm, while your face roasts. Get a Sunbeam Cabinet Heater and you can live comfortably in every room in your home in the coldest zero weather.

This wonderful heating plant circulates warm air like a furnace instead of radiating heat like a stove. It requires no basement, but fits into your living room or dining room like any other fine piece of furniture. It is easy to take care of and replace two or three stoves, making possible a financial savings in fuel.

We'd like to have you look it over today.

PAMPLIN

The W. C. T. U. entertained the faculty of Pamplin High School on Monday night at the hospitable home of Mrs. R. D. Baldwin. Those present, in addition to members of unions, were as follows: Misses Merle Davis, Pearl Dunton, Ruby Williams, Pattie Brandon, Mabel Adams, Mrs. C. E. Massie and Messrs. Thos. R. Pugh, Stanley Baldwin, Hal Clark, George West, Booker Joseph Beale. Games, contests and other amusements were indulged in after which delightful refreshments were served.

Many of our ladies are planning to attend the State convention in Lynchburg.

A supper for the benefit of our school will be given at Masonic Hall on Friday night.

Miss Edna Davis who has been confined to her bed for some months is not doing so well.

Rev. C. R. James has returned from conference and preached an excellent sermon Sunday night. We are glad to have Brother James back again.

Mr. Waverly Foster of South Boston spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Lou Foster.

Mrs. Bessie Maddox, of Lynchburg, spent last week with her mother, Mrs. R. L. Franklin.

THE YOUNG OLD WOMAN

"Old Man Coolidge and Old Woman Coolidge" would be the respectful way in which a delegation of Indians would describe the first two citizens of our land, long since they discovered that honor and responsibility and wisdom fit mighty well on heads that have learned by experience how to make a home, rear a family, get along with the neighbors, and otherwise make a success of life.

But the eighty-three-year-old editor of Farm and Ranch is a solitary, dramatic figure in our civilization, where we love to put a way on "grandma" and set her in the chimney corner, a pensioner on our bounty, without interests or hopes—sometimes without even friends. Mrs. S. E. Buchanan of Dallas might have been just such a grandma, only she chose not to. At fifty, she had reared a large family of her own children and started many grandchildren on the world. But she had no job that was especially her own. So she made one. She became "Aunt Sally," who for thirty-three years has been writing, out of her overflowing experience, on the problems of living.

The friends and followers of "Aunt Sally's" column have come to consider themselves members of an informal league; they number now probably 50,000. They offer her "handshakes," as she calls her friendly letters, "from Maine to Mexico, even Alaska; occasionally there is a foreign visitor from Brazil, Central America or Japan. There's always a contingent of soldier boys and navy recruits, everywhere.

"Business is a new and sometimes difficult life for a girl to find herself in," was the adviser of many she has found. "It's best to begin at home where the business of home and foreign associations can assist her."

She sent me the facts for this story with the admission to "dress 'em up," and then wrote me post-haste, "Now that you've entirely cut me to pieces, I'm stricken with stage fright. I'm shocked at having said so much about myself. I never did it before. Do please suppress the ego in the story." I leave it to you whether she could possibly seem an egotistic sort of person.

Anybody would feel like confiding in and depending on "Aunt Sally," she's wholesome, and quite unspoiled by her power. Her wildest recreation is an occasional piece of fancywork. A. H. Comfortably old-fashioned that she'd rather answer from 500 to 600 letters a month by hand than have them go through the artificiality of a stenographer's assistance.

BADLY RUN-DOWN

Lady Was Very Depressed on Account of Poor Health.

Mrs. H. S. Miller, of Splendale, N. C., says: "Five years ago I was very much run-down in health. I would give out with the least exertion. At times I would have to go to bed.

"I read of Cardui. . . My husband got me a bottle and encouraged me to take it. I was almost a skeleton, I was so thin. . . I was run-down and my general health was very poor. This was a very depressing time. I was low in spirits. My husband had to help me around. He did all he could for me and had me keep up Cardui.

"I continued taking the medicine for several months and it was wonderful the improvement it made. I gained over twenty pounds in weight, and I felt so much better besides. . . This gain was permanent, too. I have never lost it and my general health has been much better since I took Cardui." E-74
